PROVINCE LOSES

A VALUED SERVANT

In claiming Hon. Malcolm McKenzie's death has taken one of the most distinguished of the old timers of Alberta and one of the brainiest and best-liked members of the Legislature.
By knowledge of intellect, legal knowledge, and devotion to duty, Mr. McKenzie won a place in the estimation of his fellow-members of the present and all former house, and in the opinion of the public, which will cause his name to be remembered and honored.
To the grief of those who mourn his taking the loss of a reliable ally will be added the regret of people in all parts of Alberta who have learned of his worth by the stamp he leaves upon the legislation of the Province, and the sorrow of cabinet colleagues and fellow-members who will have the aid of his counsel no more.

A LEATHER MEDAL FOR MR. MICHENER

If political service rendered were a property which could be properly paid for out of the public funds, Premier Sifton should substantially increase the official salary of the leader of the Provincial Opposition.
When the leader of an Opposition renders a motion of want of confidence but refuses to allow that motion to go to a vote, he must be taken as admitting having moved what he did not believe.

On admission of the leader of the Opposition, and by consent of his followers, the course of the Sifton Government in connection with the A. and G. W. bargain has not been a course which deserves the censure of a vote of want of confidence even from political opponents.

When heretofore Mr. Michener declines from the stump against the course of the Sifton Government in connection with the A. and G. W. bargain, it will be recalled that neither Mr. Michener nor any of his followers have moved to go on record as saying that that course was deserving of censure.

When heretofore Mr. Michener favors the members of the Legislature with his alleged opinions on any subject, it will be recalled that the declared convictions and even the formal motions of Mr. Michener have no necessary relation to the opinions Mr. Michener is prepared to vote for.

As a political service rendered to even a good government is not a service which can be properly paid for out of the public funds, it is to be hoped that Premier Sifton will take occasion to make suitable personal acknowledgments of the favor conferred upon him by this formal confession that what Mr. Michener says or even moves is not necessarily in conformity with what Mr. Michener thinks.

IF THAT'S THE GAME

"LAY ON MACDUFF"

"The Government will adopt the closure and shut off the naval debate," is the daily prophecy of the newspaper friends of the Borden Government.

Perhaps the Government will adopt the closure—and, again, perhaps they will not. It is one thing to promise and another to perform—as General Buller once demonstrated to the disgruntled satisfaction of the British Empire.

Perhaps a limit should be put to the length at which any measure may be debated in Parliament. If so, the time to apply that restriction is a time when there is no large contentious measure before the House. And if such restriction should be applied, other means must be provided for keeping the Government unanswerable continuously to the people.

To attempt to apply the closure at the present time would be simply an attempt to put a gag in the mouth of the Opposition for the explicit and undeniable purpose of shutting off discussion of the naval question; not for the purpose of expediting the general transaction of public business.

There is no reason at all to suppose that the Ministers are averse to applying the gag in this fashion and for this purpose. Having already eluded their own followers into silence with a threat of striking their constituencies off the list of public works expenditures, it is to be supposed they would be equally willing to renege the Opposition to silence by other and no less discreditable means.

The threat to apply the closure—unless other means for attaining the same end be provided—has in substance a proposal to abolish responsible Government, and to set up the irresponsible system of government which prevails in the United States.

Under our Parliamentary system an Opposition may hold up a Government measure whenever convinced that public opinion is averse to it, and so compel the submission of the measure to the people at a general election. Under the system prevailing south of the line, a general election cannot be brought about before the appointed time, no matter what an Opposition may do. The difference is just the difference between a Government continuously responsible to the people and a Government temporarily independent of the people.

It is quite in line with the attempt to railroad the naval bill through Parliament, that the present Government should desire to destroy the freedom of debate which constitutes the Canadian safeguard against tyranny, and to set themselves up as an oligarchy capable of defying public opinion until the course of the present Parliament has run its course. It is also in line with the manifest conviction of the Ministers that if the public are given a chance at their first term of office will end with a ringing day.

It is quite possible, therefore, as their newspaper friends advise in a forecast—that the Ministers will shut the fighting ground, and in fact trying to force the naval scheme through Parliament will attempt to take away the liberty of Parliament to prevent this or any other measure being moved through.

If they do so, the fight will be on the old battle-ground of responsible government, with the Liberals standing where they have always stood, in defence of the right of the people to govern themselves, and their opponents also occupying their traditional position of unscrupulous power.

If the Ministers are minded to "fight that battle over again," let the hostilities begin.

Garage Employee Stabbed.

Saskatoon, March 14.—J. C. Nelson, an employee of the Gardiner garage, was stabbed here tonight by Frank Tomczak, during a row in which Nelson's injuries, while serious, will not likely prove fatal.

Dr. Wright said if the knife had gone a couple of inches further it would have proved fatal at once. Tomczak made good his escape, but the police hope to bring about his arrest.

THE LATE HONORABLE MALCOLM MCKENZIE.

A Tribute by a Friend of More Than a Quarter of a Century, Professor J. M. Miller, of Robertson Presbyterian College.

The province was just beginning to understand the worth of the Hon. Malcolm McKenzie when the sudden summons of death took him from us. His chance for public service, for which he was eminently fitted, had just come, when he had to quit his office, and his first public speech was unprepared. His taking off in a serious loss to the province, but to mention it is different to a personal sorrow. We were fellow pupils at the old Kilmearns high school, in January, 1887. He met me in Kingston, Ont., at two o'clock in the morning and took me to his boarding house. That was my first session at the University. At the close of the first session, I remember that Malcolm McKenzie graduated with first class honors in philosophy. He occupied me a post card drawing attention, in a careful way, to some trivial question that I had won, and adding with characteristic modesty, "Your honor servant gets the medal." That was all, and yet I suppose that the old motto in Professor Walker's department of that time was the "honor ribbon" of philosophy in Canada. At the same time he was a student but always ready for fun.

He entered a law office in the city of Kingston, but some associates of his legal profession were sometimes very distasteful to him—and the study, but certain practices associated with the profession, that contradicted his high ideals. Then the doctors gave him his first warning, and he came west in search of health. He did not meet Mr. McKenzie, and there I spent some happy days with him while in the city of Kingston, and in the city of Toronto.

Twenty years or more after that he became a prominent figure in the public life of the province, and a leader of the progressive and the liberal of public service, and a man in many parts, no matter how far he travelled, he never lost his old and cheerful smile. He was a man of the same kind, honest, sincere, and I knew him since he was a boy. He told me that a man offered him a direct money bribe after the free-education in return for a favor to be bestowed. "The blackboard," said he, and his honest face shone with indignation.

He had his prejudices—what of us is without them?—but he held them tenaciously, not deep in his heart he loved fair play and truth, before all else.

He was true as steel to his friends, he had measures and aims, but kind he was. He came of rugged, honest stock, whose word was as good as his and loved the people. "He was a common man, but not mean."

I do not seek to estimate the worth of his services as a statesman, but to try to suggest the depth and sincerity of the late Malcolm McKenzie, and to say this more tribute to the memory of my school fellow of thirty-two years ago.

Remarked on the Side

Saskatoon is thinking of establishing an swimming bath at a cost of $25,000. It is a very fine idea, but it is probably impossible to carry out the plan.

St. Thomas, Ontario, is reported to be the only town in the province to talk about another Englishman challenging for the America cup. It is a very fine idea, but it is probably impossible to carry out the plan.

The heaven-born humorist who turned off the electric light during the naval debate will have around a feeling of envy in the heart of many a schoolboy. But perhaps, when his friends know his constitution, they may think that one good turn of service amends.

There is a man in Toronto who is also a man in the navy. He is a man of the same kind, honest, sincere, and I knew him since he was a boy.

Protest Against Increased Armaments.

Signal Man on Pennsylvania Railroad Assaulted By Strikers.

Philadelphia, March 15.—Bound to the track in front of a rapidly approaching express train on the Pennsylvania railroad by four men, believed by the police to be striking school hands, Patrick J. Dugan, a signal man, escaped being ground to death last night when the engineer, noting the absence of the signal light, stopped the train within ten feet of where he was tied.

Dunham was unconscious, his skull fractured, apparently from a blow from a pick handle.

He was on duty at the tower at sixty-second street and Lancaster avenue on the main line of the railroad when he noticed that a signal light had been extinguished. He went to investigate when the men suddenly leaped upon him from a thick. The attack was the first serious act of violence, the police say, the part of the striking track workers of the Pennsylvania railroad within the city limits.

There are about 750 trackmen on strike on the several divisions of the railroad in Pennsylvania.

Seven monoplane and 16 biplane are to be delivered in April.

RULINGS OF CHAIRMEN ARE APPEALED AGAINST

House Will Adjourn at Midnight
After Two-Weeks' Continuous Session.

Ottawa, March 16.—The House is still in session on clause two of the naval bill, and despite the fact that amendments submitted by the opposition to clause two have been ruled out of order, there is apparently no prospect of progress being made with the bill before adjournment at midnight.

At 9 o'clock this morning Mr. Pendergast moved that the committee rise, and at noon the question was still under discussion. On the previous occasions the opposition appeared from the ruling of the chair, and divisions were taken.

Mr. Witford Out of Fight.
Premier Herdson remained until 8 a.m., when he went home for a rest. Mr. Witford Laurier is confined to his residence with a cold and is out of the fight, but Hon. Geo. P. Graham has been in the House continuously since noon.

His chair, which was taken over by Mr. Pendergast and Mr. A. M. Macdonald, was taken over by Mr. Pendergast and Mr. A. M. Macdonald, who were both government forces since a week.

At an early hour this morning the opposition, who had been raising continuous objections to J. A. M. Allen as chairman, raised a point of order, but it could not be understood. It was agreed that the objection was well taken, and Mr. Allen was replaced by Deputy Speaker Blundell.

After Mr. Laurier's resignation, Mr. Barker, who is still presiding.

Appealed Against Ruling.
At 9:30 Chairman Blundell ruled that when the chair made a ruling and it was sustained by the House, there would be no further appeal to the speaker on a ruling making a similar point.

From this ruling Mr. Emerson appealed, and the chair was sustained on a vote of 58 to 18.

E. M. MacDonald then made a speech in which he said that a grave condition of financial affairs was arising throughout the country owing to the neglect of the government.

"The business of the country," he said, "is beginning to be affected by the neglect of the government in the Bank Act. The banking policy for the next ten years will be laid down within the next three months."

Mr. MacDonald also dealt with the non-paying of supply, and declared that it was the responsibility of the government, because it has not.
